The Continuing Story of Clinical Pharmacy Training

Dr. Peter Loewen
Dr. Tania Mysak
Presenter Disclosure

- Tania Mysak
  - I have no current or past relationships with commercial entities
  - I have received no speaker’s fee for this learning activity

- Peter Loewen
  - I have no current or past relationships with commercial entities
  - I have received no speaker’s fee for this learning activity
At the end of this session, participants will be able to:

1) Discuss the benefits of formal experiential training and compare and contrast them to those of work experience;

2) Acknowledge the various skill sets required to be successful in contemporary pharmacist practice, and understand how they can be cultivated through a variety of means;

3) Articulate how they can personally contribute to the development of future pharmacist professionals, at all stages of their training and development.
Self-Reflective Questions

» Do you think you will choose to pursue a PharmD or other formal training in the future?

» What are your particular skills, ambitions, and attributes that distinguish you from your colleagues (and future colleagues) and represent unique contributions you can make, feel good about, and guide your career?

» Do you plan to precept a PharmD student? What skills and supports do you feel you would need to do so? Does the previous experience of the student affect your willingness to precept them?
References